

Daring Burglary—Thieves in the City.
—On last night, (Sunday) while Mr. James W. Ham and family were at church, some daring thief entered his residence, on Water street, by thrusting a lever between the door facing and forcing the lock by the catch.—The thief then proceeded to force the lock of a small cherry cash box, removed from the grocery store on the lower floor, and placed on the mantle piece, from which he abstracted between $15 and $20. The family returning early, he was forced to leave by seizing that amount, and leaving in the bottom of the box about six dollars in small change, that was too tedious to secure.—The description of the money stolen, as well as can be recollected, is as follows: One five dollar bill, State Bank of Ohio, one $2 bill, State Bank of Indiana, very dark, one $1 bill, State Bank of Ohio. The remainder in silver, principally five franc pieces.
Mr. Ham offers five dollars reward for any information that will lead to the detection of the thief, or the recovery of the money.

ANOTHER.—Our devil says another daring burglary was committed in our office, last night, by some graceless rats, that entered by means of "the underground railroad," and ate all the wedding cake left him by the happy couple advertised in this paper.—Oh, cracky! what times we have fallen upon.

The trial of N. Childs, Jr., for embezzling funds from the Bank of Missouri, has been progressing for about a week—a large number of witnesses are yet to be examined, and from the progress made, we cannot reasonably expect a termination of the trial for a fortnight to come. The proceedings are too voluminous and tedious to give even a synopsis in the Banner, until we get the conclusion.

DAGUERRETYPE MINIATURES.

Reader, have you a friend, a relative, or perchance, a-a-lover, with whom you would leave a memento or friendship's offering, if so, call at the rooms of Mr. S. O. Minor at Baird's Hotel, during the present week, and "Let Nature copy that which Nature made," your ug-pretty face. We have examined some specimens of Mr. Minor's skill, and believe them to be equal to those taken in the largest cities, and know them to be cheaper.

A New article of Steel Pens.—We have been presented, by Mr E. G. McQuie, of this city, with a new article of steel pens, manufactured by L. M. Leman, of New York, superior, we think, to any in use.—They are round pointed and elastic, and when dropped with the weight of an ordinary holder, four or five feet, point foremost upon the hardest casting, they sustain no injury. We saw this tried, and drew the same pen from the floor where it stood upright from falling in the same position, and wrote the finest hair marks with it immediately after.

Mr. M. has also just received many other new and fine articles of goods, suited to the market.

TYPE SETTING EXTRAORDINARY.—We have an apprentice in our office, 13 years old, who has been at the business just eight months, and has never during that time, omitted a line in copying matter, and scarcely a half dozen words, all put together.—He now sets his whole columns with seldom a letter or comma wrong.

We return our thanks to the Hon. James S. Green, for a copy of the Patent Office Reports for 1848. It is a valuable document.

Hon. John P. Richmond, Senator in the Illinois Legislature, will accept our thanks for public documents from that Assembly.

OBITUARY.

Death of Rev. W. W. Redman.
Rev. W. W. REDMAN, of the Mo. Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, is no more. He died at his residence, in Danville, Mo., October 31, 1849, in the 50th year of his age. The deceased has been very generally and favorably known as an itinerant minister of the gospel in Missouri for upwards of 29 years. Having possessed naturally a strong constitution, and enjoyed, generally, very good health, his labors have been very extensive, and greatly blessed, in turning many from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, and in building up the Church of Christ in the most holy faith. One week ago, Brother Redman, in the enjoyment of full health, preached a funeral discourse some three miles from home, at the close of which he was suddenly attacked with palpitation of the heart, which increased until there was an entire suspension of the action of the vital powers. Medical aid was procured, and in a few hours he was measurably relieved. He improved so much as to be removed home on Sabbath afternoon; continued to be comfortable, except a slight palpitation occasionally.—On the night before he died, he rested very well; took some nourishment about 3 o'clock in the morning, and desired Mrs. Redman to put out the light and try to get some sleep. She did put out the light, and retired to bed, but discovered a change in Mr. R.'s breathing; sprang up and called him, but he answered not; struck a light time enough only to see him breathe his last, without a struggle or groan. The writer of this spent some time with the deceased on the day previous to his death, and heard him speak, as he had done frequently, after his first attack, of his religious condition and hopes—that they were comfortable; that he was not afraid to die; that he knew in whom he trusted.—His end was peaceful. He "rests from his labors and his works, which do follow him."

MARRIED.

In this city, on the 8th inst., by Rev. Wm. F. Watson, Mr. ROBERT MCALISTER and Miss RUTH ANN ZUMWALT, all of this county.

The happy couple have our wishes for many years of felicity, with one class of responsibilities, and many thanks for the copious supply of Cake they sent us. After doing full justice to the latter, our devil soliloquized, "What amiable people they are," and broke forth in the following strain:

"The heart can ne'er be truly blest,
Unless it can recline
Upon some fond, congenial breast,
Where love's sweet tendrils twine.
Then we can brook life's many ills,
Of sorrow and of woe,
For love a soothing balm distills,
To cheer us whilst below."

In Canton, Mo., on Thursday, October 25th, by the Rev. E. E. Marvin, Mr. S. P. VANNOY, Editor of the North East Reporter, to Miss EMMA C. STITH.

STOLEN from Mr. Schoolfield's silversmith shop, in Prairieville, Mo., an old fashioned, gold Lepine watch; upon the face was "Lidia Laura," and the back was reset with an enamel painting, a good deal broken and defaced. My anxiety to get possession of said watch, is more on account of its being a family memento, than of its real value. I will pay the above reward if it is delivered to me; or any reasonable compensation for any information relative to it.

TOTAL ECLIPSE!!

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the public that ROOT'S PATENT ECLIPSE STOVE can always be found at No. 19 Main Street, St. Louis.

This Stove has become the most popular stove in use, from the perfect simplicity of its construction, and the certainty with which it performs all its cooking operations—consuming, as it does, less than half a cord of wood per month, and baking with as much certainty and uniformity as a Baker's Oven. This, together with the fact that there is no division of the flues, thereby securing a strong draught, makes it the most economical and convenient Cooking Stove now in use.

Also on hand ROOT'S CELEBRATED PREMIUM COOKING STOVES, together with every variety of Cooking and Parlor Stoves, Tin-ware, Kitchen, Hardware, &c. &c., all of which will be sold at very low prices, either at wholesale or retail.

Country Merchants would do well to call and examine our stock, as we are satisfied with small profits.
